Printing

Woodway can supply cartons printed by Flexographic, Lithographic or Silk Screen process.

Flexographic – This is the most common and cheapest way of printing corrugated and involves using water based inks. This could include upto a five colour print with a U.V. varnish.

Lithographic – Printing is available to offer photographic quality pictures as is mainly used for display purposes. A varnish is usually applied and can be either matt or gloss, dependant on the finish required.

Silk Screen – This gives an excellent finish with a particularly high ink coverage, and is ideal for short runs of high quality cartons.
